DU LEADS GREEK SYSTEM AT KU

Dear brothers,

Since the new Chapter officer installation in November, the Chapter has presented the new leadership with challenges that required attention to current projects, in addition to sparking new endeavors, while maintaining the levels of performance expected of Delta Upsilon. Now with the spring semester under way, the Chapter continues its role of excellence, not only as a figure to be admired among other Delta Upsilon Chapters, but as a fraternity that is known to excel in membership, academic performance, and athletics at KU.

Awards and Honors

Kansas DU's progress continues to fetch attention. After earning four of the seven Chapter Excellence Awards at the annual Greek Chapter Recognition Night last year and being only one of two fraternities awarded among many sororities, the Chapter looks forward to our return to glory by claiming at least six of the seven excellence awards, as we did two years ago. In philanthropy and University participation, the Chapter took second place in Homecoming with Kappa Alpha Theta. The Greg Wilkerson Memorial football tournament was successful again this year, with the Chapter and its participating competitors raising nearly $4,000 for the Boys and Girls Club of Lawrence. Delta Upsilon 1 took the trophy home after beating Beta 1 as they maintain their winning streak, which was 6-0 at that point in the season.

Academics

The Chapter stands in the top 10 among 28 other IFC and NPHC fraternities with a G.P.A. above the all-university and all-male averages. This semester the Chapter placed 10th with a cumulative G.P.A. of 2.94. The number of members who scored above a 3.0 shot up from 45 members last semester to 50 members. Our academic performance bears no limits; therefore, as a Chapter we will invariably strive toward academic success.

Intramurals

Delta Upsilon carries on with its competitive rampage in all major sports. Last season we were defending champions in floor hockey and swimming. This year the flag football team went 14-1 to take second on the Hill, while collecting the Kappa Kappa Gamma flag football tournament trophy on the way by beating Phi Delta Theta 1. With many accomplishments already behind us, we look forward to competing this spring as our basketball team remains undefeated for the season, and our swim team and golf team sustain their undefeated steaks that have stretched as far back as 2002.

Nick Arthachinda '06, Paul Lantis '07, Lewis Gregory '75, Paul Gregory '05, and Rod Barleen '97 attended Delta Upsilon's Leadership Institute in Portland, Oregon.

Leadership Development

The Chapter unflinchingly provides the University with leaders. Jeff Dunlap '05 is in his final stretch as student body vice president, and Wes Osbourn '05 is senator for the School of Business. The Interfraternity Council's fraternity recruitment programs will be run by Richard Young '07, vice president for recruitment, along with me on the Judicial Board as a running candidate for chief justice. Trent Nelson '08 and Brendan Camey '08 have been appointed as chairmen for intramurals and the National Panhellenic Conference liaison to the Interfraternity Council, where they will begin to expand their leadership potential. Tyler Emery '06 is president of the Interfraternity Council Greek marketing team for the upcoming term, and Justin Roberts '05 is the chief editor of the University Daily Kansan newspaper.

As president, I look forward to continuing our tradition of excellence by encouraging greater motivation, participation, and pride in our brothers, and I believe that our combined efforts with the alumni corporation board toward renovating the north basement and other areas of the house is the next step. We have much to look forward to.

Fraternally,

House Corporation Board Sponsors New Leadership Program

As I talk with many alumni of the Kansas Chapter, I am impressed with the varied forms of success they have achieved and their ceaseless commitment to the excellence of our Chapter. Having also met and worked alongside our fine undergraduate men, I can assure you that our future alumni will carry on that great tradition. There is something about being a non-secret fraternity and building young men into leaders that sets our Chapter apart; it always has, and we are working hard to make sure that it always will.

I am inspired to hear that so many others share my commitment in maintaining the Chapter House as an attractive place for today's college men to live, and to make the Delta Upsilon experience within that house a relevant opportunity for building tomorrow's leaders. You can be proud of our Chapter House. It is in good shape—especially considering that every day it shelters and feeds 70 energetic young men. Originally built in 1929, the property has a few maintenance issues that need attention from time to time. However, I can only hope that when each one of us is that age we will look that good and have as many fully functioning parts! We are developing a long-range facility plan to ensure that it meets our needs for another 80 years.

The fraternity is a wonderful incubator for developing and applying life skills. Our objective is to build upon that opportunity and launch our graduates so that they are fully equipped to make a positive difference in the world. This coming fall, your fellow alumni and the undergraduate Chapter will join together to begin a new program to develop leadership skills. We intend to create an opportunity to jointly study leadership concepts, host guest speakers who will share their experiences, and discuss ways of applying what we learn. Knowing that our undergraduate members are always just a few years and a degree away from beginning their respective professional journeys gives us great passion to make this new program a significant learning experience that cannot be matched. If you would like to take part in this innovative program, provide support, or serve as a mentor to one of our young men, please let me know. We can always use more good people to help row the boat.

Fraternally,

Curt Seymour '81 Builds One of KC's Fastest Growing Companies

Curt Seymour's undergraduate brothers knew he was a scrappy competitor on the intramural court. However, they probably didn't realize that he would one day catch a hot trend and lead a scrapbooking company to dizzying heights. Curt is vice president of K&Company, a scrapbooking wholesaler and distributor with products in many "big box" retailers, including Michael's, Hobby Lobby, Target, Barnes & Noble, and Kohl's. K&Company designs and markets everything from albums to papers to stickers, and everything else a scrapbook enthusiast could want. The company was co-founded by Curt and Kay Stanley (president of the company) after they realized the sweeping trend of scrapbooking, while peddling collegiate merchandise at a trade show in the late 1990s.

Kay, a KU graduate with a background in art and design, concentrated on the creative, side while Curt put his sales and marketing skills to work. The company now employs 164 people with 26 in-house designers. Oh, and by the way, after being in business together and dating for 10 years, the two entrepreneurs are now married!

Curt, a Wichita native (Wichita Southeast), and Kay have enjoyed numerous prestigious awards and recognition for the success of K&Company, including Inc. Magazine's 500 Fastest-Growing Companies (2003), Entrepreneur of the Year, and Ingram's Magazine KC area's 100 fastest growing companies (two years in a row). Currently operating out of converted caves in Parkville, Missouri, Curt reports that the company is getting ready to move to a larger facility at Air World near Kansas City International Airport. With annual sales climbing above the $30 million mark, this once-small enterprise is a scrappy little success story!

DU Alumnus Launches Online Advertising Giant

What do Priceline.com, eHarmony.com, and Overstock.com have in common besides each being one of the fastest growing online success stories? The advertising engine behind their success is media guru Mike Robertson '81.

Mike's company, Ocean Media Inc., in Huntington Beach, California, launched each company's advertising campaign and continues to provide all their media planning, buying, and placement. With 35 employees and over $100 million in billings, Ocean Media's growth is parallel to those they work with.

After college, Mike worked for Citicorp in Portland, Oregon. Mike later moved to Huntington Beach and worked for a money management firm, Fabian Financial Services, and then later its sister company, Fabian Publishing. It was there Mike experienced his first real taste for marketing and was instrumental in introducing several products and services via television and radio. His knowledge of media and the value it brings to companies inspired Mike to start Ocean Media in 1996. He says, "Placement of efficient, cost-effective media with measurable results is what my clients need and rely on." He adds, "We will never arbitrarily spend any client's media dollars. If we can do the job for less money, we will."

Initially from Kansas City, Mike now resides in Newport Beach, California. His professional interests are balanced by his wife, Kim, and their four children: Chelsea, Garrett, Wyatt, and Emma. Mike enjoys traveling with his family, spending time at their farm in southeast Kansas, playing golf, and going fishing.

Mike is also passionate about a new non-profit foundation, Share A Smile Inc., that he and his wife started. For years, they have privately funded braces and dental work for those who cannot afford to do so. Mike insists that his family has been blessed in so many ways and this is one way in which they can give back. Mike says, "These children with severely crooked teeth are a target of so much teasing and ridicule, it feels great to help them smile proudly."

Don't look for this success story to hit the front page of the Wall Street Journal or Forbes. Mike diverts all requests for interviews—except for this DU newsletter.
