

THE SUNFLOWER

A PUBLICATION OF THE KANSAS CHAPTER OF DELTA UPSILON

FALL 2006

The Kansas Chapter Well Represented and Continually Acknowledged at DU International Convention

way, our Chapter received awards for outstanding facilities management, community service, and special recognition under the Chapter Excellence Program. On the night of the grand banquet the Kansas Chapter received its most significant honor by being selected as one of the finalists for the Grand Sweepstakes Award.

As the award was presented, I noted with pride that our Chapter representatives receiving the award included undergraduate leaders (current and future), the Chapter counselor, and members of our House Corporation Board and our Education Foundation. Putting the Kansas Chapter in the Delta Upsilon "Top 5" had taken a great team effort by a lot of people working together.

When everyone is rowing the boat in the same direction, great things can happen. There are many ways to remain involved as a Kansas Chapter alumnus whether as a limited engagement or on a continuing basis. Your Chapter is hungry for alumni involvement in the form of guest speakers, leadership mentors, and long-distance career advisors.

If you have minutes, hours, days, or dollars available, we can use your help in continuing the success of the Kansas Chapter.

Fraternally,
Bryan R. LaGree '80
House Corporation Board President

With the International Fraternity Convention and Leadership Institute held in our own backyard this summer, it was easy to get a nice group of KU alumni to join the undergraduate and alumni Fraternity brothers from chapters around the U.S. and Canada at the Hyatt Regency in Kansas City, Missouri, from August 2 through 6.

About a dozen KU alumni attended a cocktail reception on Wednesday evening, including three former International Board members from the Kansas Chapter, Lewis Gregory '75, Doug Ballou '75, and John Esau '78.

Reports about area chapters at KU, Kansas State, Wichita, and Missouri were given from undergraduate presidents and officials of the DU International Board and Foundation. Presenting at the 2006 Alumni Volunteer Conference later in the week was Kansas DU alumnus Rod Barleen '97, who spoke to a peer volunteer group about Greek housing trends, fundraising, and chapter operations.

At the convention, our Chapter was repeatedly recognized as one of the exemplary DU chapters. Along the

DU RECALLS LAST SEMESTER'S ACCOMPLISHMENTS AND MAKES PREPARATION FOR A NEW SCHOOL YEAR

As my term winds down, I could not be more pleased with the way things at the Chapter have been operating. From academics to community involvement and athletics, our men are proving themselves as leaders and gentlemen. This summer at the Delta Upsilon Leadership Institute in Kansas City, the Chapter was recognized as a Sweepstakes Finalist. The talk of the conference was the Kansas Chapter's return to the top.

Freshman class helps to improve overall G.P.A.

The Chapter has continued to improve its overall G.P.A. We went from a fall 3.099 G.P.A. to this spring's G.P.A. of 3.12. Once again, the freshmen showed their academic strength with three 4.0s in their class alone. However, we feel confident in saying that our new recruits will be able to top that number.

Recruitment effort brings 39 new associate members to the Chapter

On August 11 we welcomed 39 new associate members into the Chapter. Applause is due to Trent Nelson '08, Brian Huntington '08, and Chris Albrect '08 for their amazing recruitment effort. The Chapter House is filled to its seams, and we are enjoying every minute of it. The new class is made up of some of the finest scholars, leaders, and athletes that have ever been a part of this Chapter. We look forward to our new recruitment chairmen continuing the effort. If there are any alumni recommendations, please let the chairmen know. It's never too early to start thinking about next year.

Plans under way for Rock Chalk Revue

After an amazing run last year, DU is looking to be on top again. We have already paired up with Delta Gamma for this year's Homecoming competition. We are looking forward to winning the prize back to back. Rock Chalk Revue preparation has already begun. Last spring we asked Gamma Phi Beta to be our partners in this year's production. Finally, practice for DU flag football started the first week of school. The Chapter is excited to bring The Hill Championship home again this year.

Philanthropic efforts include two more fundraising events

In an effort to make the Kansas Chapter stand above the rest, we have become very involved with the Boys and Girls Club. We have increased our effort from solely hosting the Greg Wilkerson Memorial Football Tournament to organizing a chili cook-off and basketball clinic for the kids. We raised more than $4,000 last year and are looking to improve that total this semester.

I would like to thank all of the alumni and parents for their continued support. We all have the same goal in mind, which is to make this Chapter the best at KU and the best Fraternity. Please feel free to stop by on a game day or Mondays for Chapter. We would love to have you.

Entrepreneur Finds Success in Pie

Gene Camarena '79, a Salina, Kansas native, left the DU house after graduation and took a job at a regional accounting firm in Wichita. Fast forward a quarter century from this modest beginning and you'll find a successful entrepreneur who recognized many opportunities along the way, changed course, took risks, and worked hard to become one of Pizza Hut's most successful franchisees. Oh, and he owns four Marriott hotel franchises with three others either under construction or on the drawing board.

Gene's early career took him to Koch Industries in Wichita where he worked on business acquisitions and solidified an increasing desire to build or acquire his own business. During his tenure at Koch, Gene applied to Harvard Business School and was accepted in the fall of 1985. He confesses that being middle of the pack at Harvard, among some elite and pedigreed classmates, was fine with him. He credits his experience at Harvard with giving him the tools he would eventually need to pull off something big.

For Gene, "something big" started at Pizza Hut, where he landed a job working on franchise acquisitions and small chain deals after Harvard. While working for Pizza Hut Corporate, Gene confesses that crunching numbers every day made him realize "the franchise side of the business was where the money is." Gene put together his own deal for eight stores in the Amarillo, Texas, area and presented it to then president Steve Reinimund (currently the CEO of PepsiCo) who liked the idea. By 1994, another dozen stores were acquired.

Today, Gene's company owns and operates 71 units in Texas, New Mexico, and Indiana. He says, "I chose the company name La Raza Pizza (the race pizza) to signify that this is a 100% Hispanic owned company, and that we are very proud of that fact. The majority of our employees in Texas and New Mexico are Hispanic." He is also proud to report that based on 2005 sales, his company is ranked in the top 125 Hispanic owned companies in America.

While his business units have offices in Amarillo, Indianapolis, and Kansas City, Gene and his wife, Yolanda (also a Harvard graduate), call Wichita home. They are active and involved parents of two daughters, Gena and Potsie, who both attend Wichita Collegiate

High School. The family is also heavily involved in the Hispanic community. Yolanda started a program at Wichita North High School called FLOW, Future Latino Leaders of Wichita.

Gene stays involved in the community working with the United Way, the Catholic Diocese of Wichita, and as a former chairman of the International Pizza Hut Franchise Holders Association. In spite of his dedication to the community, a busy work schedule, and frequent travels out of state, Gene prides himself in rarely missing any of his girls' activities, and still finding the time to hang with some of his DU brothers in the Wichita area, whom he describes as "some of my closest friends, which has been a lasting benefit from my four years at the DU house."

In addition to Pizza Huts and hotels, Gene has owned Burger King and Beauty Warehouse franchises, though he has since sold his interest in those concepts. Is he done building? "We continue to look at different deals every year" is his reply.

Morrison Brothers Indulge Automobile Passions

Roger Morrison '65 and Richard Morrison '70, both of Salina, Kansas, share a strong interest in collecting cars, though each has his own passion and direction. Roger is into classic cars and car shows, while Richard has the "need for speed" in racing vintage autos.

Richard started racing go-carts in his teen years and still has the first car he bought, a 1925 Model T Ford coupe. Richard currently owns "about a dozen" cars—an eclectic group of sport and racing cars that includes a 1964 Ferrari 250 GT Lusso he drove at KU his senior year, a '67 Shelby GT350 Mustang identical to one driven at KU his first three years, a Formula Atlantic Indy car formerly owned by Jeff Andretti, and several others. A real prize is his '39 Lagonda Le Mans replica that he enjoys racing.

Roger's collection of cars includes numerous hot rods and dragsters, along with his prized '29 Rolls-Royce Springfield Phantom I Riviera

Town Brougham with a body by Brewster. Roger has been a judge (Rolls-Royce class) at the prestigious Pebble Beach Concours D'Elegance, America's premier classic car event, for more than 20 years. Richard has had one winner at the Pebble Beach classic, while Roger has racked up three wins.

Roger was an English major at KU, while Richard majored in economics. After college, both brothers returned to Salina to work in the family grain storage and farming operations while perusing other entrepreneurial ventures. The brothers are still active in Morrison Ventures when they're not racing, showing, or looking for more cars to add to their collections.

Richard and his wife, Sallie, have two children, Mindy and Jeffrey. Roger and his wife, Maureen, have four children: Aaron, Amy, Molly, and Megan. Roger can be contacted at rogmorr@yahoo.com.
